

If you've already started the GED® test, you're almost there.

The current version of the GED® test expires at the end of 2013 and your scores will expire too if you don't finish and pass the test by then.

You have until the end of 2013 to pass or you will need to start over again in 2014 with the new GED® test in order to earn a Maryland High School Diploma.

Passing the GED® test is a key to opening doors to college, a better job, and the respect you deserve. Don't miss this chance to turn one small step into your next big opportunity! Finish your GED® test by the end of 2013 and earn your Maryland High School Diploma.

To obtain an application to take the GED® test and 2013 test dates, visit dllr.maryland.gov/gedmd/ged.shtml

Some tips you should know about testing in Maryland prior to the end of 2013:

Application deadline for new/first time GED® test takers is September 16, 2013.

Application deadline for retesting GED® test takers is October 31, 2013

GED® candidates are eligible to test three (3) times between January 1 and December 31.

To locate GED® preparation classes and an adult education program in your area, visit dllr.maryland.gov/gedmd/programs.shtml.

